COLLABORATION

We're providing ways for organizations and essential services to collaborate, share resources and address pressing social issues with strategic and coordinated approaches.

MOBILIZATION

We're implementing emergency response efforts to quickly deploy volunteers, along with food and essentials, to where they are most needed all across our vast community.

PREPARATION

We're providing training to protect volunteers and vulnerable populations in essential services, and ensuring organizations are ready to deal with the complex challenges they face.

VIRTUALIZATION

We're developing virtual volunteer roles to allow people to help out even while they are at a distance and engaging groups like youth, newcomers and seniors in the effort.

There's only one way to community recovery: the together way.

SEEING EYE TO EYE SHOT

Along the course, players will notice the clear signage that showcases each sponsor and brings to the fore the way in which you have chosen to contribute.

CHIPPING IN

We would love to share your remarks with players about why you have chosen to support the recovery with us. We'll include your video clip in the pre-event package.

A LITTLE BIRDIE TOLD ME

A photograph of two women outdoors. The woman on the left is seated in a wheelchair, wearing a dark grey zip-up jacket with a 'Columbia' logo on the chest. She has long brown hair and is smiling broadly. The woman on the right is standing, wearing a white button-down shirt and dark sunglasses. She has her arm around the shoulder of the woman in the wheelchair and is also smiling. The background is a grassy field with trees in the distance.
